

CHAPTER ONE

The Black Panther of Sivanipalli

It was a cool evening in the jungle. A panther had been seen near the village three days earlier, and a sambhur was found half-eaten on the edge of the bamboo thicket.

I sat in a machan beneath a peepul tree, rifle in hand.
A jungle fowl crowed somewhere in the distance.